

These tools can help us recognize where we are to determine the areas of focus to address in determining where we want to go and plot how we will get there. The DART BD. Is a tool to identify specific areas where we need to consider the elements that will enable us to plan a project for an equitable outcome.

The diagram enables the user to plot a path to the bullseye by looking at each element on the wheel and considering where to place them in a hierarchy and then determine where emphasis should be placed in the effort to move to the target.
